

The Myplas Clinic: On-Site Healthcare for Employees

What We Do

In 2015, Myplas established an on-site medical clinic at its main facility — a proactive step to support employee health and well-being. Staffed by a qualified nurse with a doctor on call, the clinic provides primary healthcare services such as check-ups, minor treatments, referrals, and health education. By offering convenient, workplace-based care, Myplas demonstrates its people-first ethos and commitment to building a Healthy and Happy Workforce.

Our Impact

- Accessible Preventative Care: Employees receive regular wellness screenings (e.g. blood pressure, hearing, lung capacity, blood sugar, vision tests) and health counselling on nutrition, hygiene, and chronic disease management. Early intervention helps prevent illnesses from becoming serious, keeping the workforce healthier over time.
- Reduced Absenteeism & Higher Productivity: On-site treatment for minor ailments and injuries reduces absenteeism. Workers no longer need to lose a full day for a simple consultation — they can access care during breaks and return to work. This improves reliability, productivity, and efficiency across operations.
- Employee Well-being & Morale: The presence of a clinic reassures staff that medical support is always within reach, boosting morale, trust, and loyalty. Health workshops and vaccination drives further improve quality of life for employees and their families, strengthening Myplas's reputation as a caring, responsible employer.

A Win-Win

The Myplas Clinic is a model for industrial wellness: by investing in healthcare access, Myplas improves lives while also benefitting from higher productivity and stronger employee retention. It's proof that caring for people is good business.
